This week I read "Plum Lucky" by Janet Evanovich. This book is an in-between book that is something to read between her "numbers" series. It was fun, really easy to read, and nice and light.

The lead in this book is Stephanie Plum. She is a bond-enforcement agent and the story is about what she does when there are no bail jumpers. This one in particular is about Stephanie taking over for a match-maker while she is in custody of a man that has "unmentionable" powers. (like esp type stuff) All in all, it was fun, and only took about 3 hours to read.
