

Promises of Change
By Joan Medlicott

I have just finished the latest in the “Covington” Series by Joan Medlicott, Promises of Change. Now I have read all the books in the series.

The stories are all about three ladies who are all around 65 and, for various reasons, all single at that stage of life. They end up living together in a house in the country. There the adventures begin!

The books are reminiscent of the Mitford series, if you know those books. At different times I identified with various antics, troubles and attitudes of each of the characters.

The books are an easy read and I suggest reading them in order. The first book is The Ladies of Covington Send their Love. It is in the Lopez Library collection.
